

CLAIMS

What we claim is:

1. Use of a part to which is affixed an appendage and which part is used to mate with a part embedded in a toy, wearing apparel, accessories, personal effects, home furnishings.
2. Use of a system consisting of sets of snaps, one part of which has affixed to it an appendage which uses a character, fictional or real, is decorative, informative, amusing or expressive of an emotion, and which part is used to mate with the other part of the sets embedded in a toy, wearing apparel, accessories, personal effects, and homefurnishing, allowing interchangeability of appendages.
3. Use of a system consisting of sets of magnetic and "magnetic attractive" mates, one of which has affixed to it an appendage which uses a character, fictional or real, is decorative, informative, amusing or expressive of an emotion and which is used to mate with the other part of a set embedded in a toy, wearing apparel, accessories, personal effects, and home furnishings, allowing interchangeability of appendages.
4. Use of a set of snaps to close a circuit.
5. Use of a set of snaps to close a self-contained circuit energizing chips to produce light or sound.